MA15300 WebAssign Homework Bonus

Each class a lesson is taught, a homework assignment covering that lesson will be due 12 hours after the start of the next class. Any problems that are successfully completed before the next class begins will receive a 10% bonus (for instance, a score of 80% becomes an 88%). Students can still complete any remaining problems before the deadline to improve their scores, but they will NOT receive any additional bonus.

Example: Lesson 1 will be covered on the first day of class (Monday, January 9). The due date for the Lesson 1 homework assignment will be 12 after the start of the next class (Wednesday, January 11). Students will receive a 10% bonus on any problems that are successfully completed before the start of Wednesday's class. After Wednesday's class, students will still have 11 hours to complete the assignment before the deadline, but they can no longer receive bonus points on that assignment.

MA15300 WebAssign Homework Penalty

Most multiple choice problems will include a penalty for an incorrect response. If a multiple choice question has only two options, a 50% penalty will be enforced for answering the question incorrectly on the first try. For multiple choice questions with more than two options, students receive one free attempt, then a 50% penalty is enforced for answering the question incorrectly on the second try.

Example: If a multiple choice question has only two options, and a student selects the incorrect option on their first attempt, the student can re-attempt the problem to select the other option, but they will only receive half-credit for the correct answer on their second attempt. If a multiple choice question has three (or more) options, and a student selects an incorrect option on their first attempt, the student can re-attempt the problem to select one of the other options WITHOUT penalty. If the student selects an incorrect option on their second attempt, they can re-attempt the problem again, but the most they can receive for a correct answer is half-credit.
