Math 13700 is designed for prospective elementary school teachers. Topics covered: problem solving; numerical reasoning including self-generated and conventional algorithms; whole and fractional number systems; elementary number theory.
Not available for credit toward graduation in the College of Science.
Typically offered Fall and Spring.

3.00 Credit Hours